

The CoVictory Gardeners' MANIFESTO

We act in response to physical isolation, social connections that happen only through technology, and the virus

We seek a connection with our community; our truest selves, our neighbors, our friends and family, and our earth, collaborating together

We see hope in all growth, and a connection in all life. We honor the history of Victory Gardening and pursue a peaceful path to sustainability without the threat of scarcity

We believe in nature's power to heal. With buds opening and bulbs growing, we intentionally engage in a world that is moving forward. Together, we build spaces where we can cherish growth and renewal

With our planters, our raised beds, our greenhouses, herb gardens, thriving succulents

With dirt in our fingernails and watering pitchers in hand, with green and black thumbs;

With produce and flowers:

We celebrate the chance to nourish life, witness the seasons and seed our place in the world, together, with our

CO
ICTORY
GARDENS

The CoVictory Gardeners' MANIFESTO

We act in response to physical isolation, social connections that happen only through technology, and the virus

We seek a connection with our community; our truest selves, our neighbors, our friends and family, and our earth, collaborating together

We see hope in all growth, and a connection in all life. We honor the history of Victory Gardening and pursue a peaceful path to sustainability without the threat of scarcity

We believe in nature's power to heal. With buds opening and bulbs growing, we intentionally engage in a world that is moving forward. Together, we build spaces where we can cherish growth and renewal

With our planters, our raised beds, our greenhouses, herb gardens, thriving succulents

With dirt in our fingernails and watering pitchers in hand, with green and black thumbs;

With produce and flowers:

We celebrate the chance to nourish life, witness the seasons and seed our place in the world, together, with our

CO
VICTORY
GARDENS

